- About Myself -

Worked for about 13 years in IT field. Future- Do not plan to work professionally, plan to get involve in some parttime activity or may be could help my better half in his profession or business.

I am simple, well mannered and organized person. Belong to respectable and cultured family. Travelled internationally to Europe, US, Canada and Alaska for holidays. A down to earth person and try to be happy with myself. Most part of my life was devoted to my parents but happy that I could give them by time. A outgoing person but at the same time also comfortable at home getting myself involved in some creative activity. Fluent in English, infact English is my alternate mother tongue, also fluent in kutchi, gujarati and hindi. Have a balance of eastern and western values. Life has not been an easy ride for me but still try to maintain a positive attitude towards life. I take pride in being selfmade and in excelling in what I do. Infact my life is a culmination of all my experiences booz of which I feel more enriched and more open to possibilities. Good at cooking and home decorating. Like to celebrate all special occasions even in the simplest way. Can carry myself with my own grace and charm but with simplicity. Spirituality is important to me and so is balance in life.

As far as partner expectations are concerned no set rules. Looking for a practical person with honesty, transparency, open communication and maturity and with whom one can involve in intellectual conversations and a compatible person to get along with. Someone who can accompany me and guide me in my life journey, with whom I can grow, laugh, and spend a wonderful life and the one who has the ability to manage differences amicably. Life could always be more special when there is someone special to share with.

Family- I have lost both my parents, two eternal souls. Have 3 elder sisters, all married and well settled with their respective families. Wish you all the best in your search and may God bless you.
